

NATIONAL TRUST FOR NATURE CONSERVATION

BIO-DIVERSITY CONSERVATION CENTER

To Whom IT May Concern

This is to certify that Mr. Kiran Raj Rijal was engaged with National Trust for Nature Conservation, Biodiversity Conservation Center (NTNC-BCC)/ Tiger Rhino Conservation Project (TRCP) from 2001.09.17 to 2005.12.30 as a veterinary assistant.

The TRCP was the first landscape scale conservation project of its kind in Nepal and was jointly funded by the Global Environment Facility (GEF), United Nations Foundation (UNF), United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and National Trust for Nature Conservation (NTNC) in kind support.

As a veterinary assistant, Mr. Rijal's main responsibilities were to assess livestock related problems and determine the prominent livestock diseases in the project area, to motivate and mobilize local community for successful livestock development program for the upliftment of local economy, to assist in generating conservation awareness through encouraging stall feed and improved stock, to assist in integrating agriculture, livestock and forestry program of the Tiger Rhino Conservation Project (TRCP).

We found him a hard working, committed, energetic and dedicated staff with his diligent work and excellent professional strength. He has gained sufficient field experiences and confidence in the livestock development sector. We would be very happy to provide more information on him, if needed regarding his tenure at BCC/TRCP.

We look forward for his bright future.

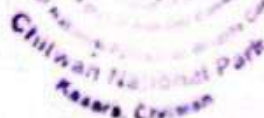

Thank you,

Sincerely

Mr. Ram Chandra Nepal
Project Coordinator

Government of Nepal
Ministry of Forest and Soil Conservation
Department of National Park and Wildlife Conservation
CHITWAN NATIONAL PARK OFFICE

Ref. No.:

Kasara Chitwan
Phone 056-411025
Fax: 056-5411024

To Whom It May Concern

This is to certify that Mr. Kiran Raj Rijal was employed as a Veterinary Technician by Chitwan National Park in collaboration with Biodiversity Conservation Centre, National Trust for Nature Conservation, Sauraha, Chitwan from 2006 to 2016.

As a veterinary technician, Mr. Rijal was given responsibilities to take health care of captive elephants of Chitwan National Park. As a member of the veterinary team, he participated in the treatment of captive working elephants, raising new borne elephant and orphaned rhino calves and was actively involved in the events of capture and translocation of adult rhinos. He was also regularly involved in the capture, treatment and rescue work for leopard, tiger and other wild carnivore and herbivore animals.

I found him as hard working, committed and dedicated to veterinary work and in excellent professional strength. He has gained sufficient field experiences and confidence in wildlife health sector. I would like to recommend him for his excellent carrier and professional development.

I look forward for his bright future.

Senior Veterinary Officer

Kamal Prasad Gairhe, D.V.M.; M.V.Sc.

Senior Veterinary Officer

Email: kamalgairhe@hotmail.com; Cell: 977- 9845055512

GPO Box 860, Babarmahal, Kathmandu, Nepal

Date: 19 January 2017